

This season is rich indeed for Nature has abundantly supplied her. Although, of all the grain, Autumn retains only the buckwheat and the golden corn, she has the luscious peaches, plums and pears, and the finer apples and grapes. She also has that staple which forms one of the greatest resources of our nation's commerce—cotton.

The annual labor of the farmer is at this season, drawing to a close. And Autumn, too, forcibly and eloquently reminds us, that we also are slowly, perhaps, but surely reaching the terminus of our earthly career. And it therefore, behooves us, like the thrifty farmer, to labor industriously that we may be able, when the Angel of death beckons us hence, to present a rich harvest of good works.

FRANK D. MCSHERRY.

The following is the list of Honor upon which is inscribed the names of those Students, who have distinguished themselves for excellence in Studies and exemplary Conduct.

OCTOBER 15 '08.

Roll of Honor.

SENIORS

Leo Luckinbill
 Samuel Kelly
 Thomas Kelly
 James Garvey
 David Fletcher
 James McCarron
 Leo Bichsel
 Samuel Roberts
 Burke Glasier
 Henry Murphy
 Isias Rios
 Chilton Flouronoy
 Eugene Sullivan
 Frank Wano
 Felix Mika
 Charles Henraty
 Pete Henraty
 James Gaddo
 George Thomas
 Henry Sosa
 Ray Beville
 Babea Louis
 Frank Peebles

JUNIORS

Felix Operla
 George Marlett,
 Frank Zoeller
 Ray Leppla
 Ollie Brooks
 Bernard McCann
 George Nemeseck
 Joseph Eck
 Jay Hatfield
 Donald Ballew
 Maurus Lampe
 Michael Medlinger
 Aloysius Neganquet
 Benedict Zoeller
 Benedict Hillerman
 Jack Howell
 Joseph Cokes
 Leo Moczygamba
 Alfred McCay
 Oscar Lampe
 Edwin Lampe,
 Ricardo Trivino
 Ubaldo Trivino